

WEALTHY FARMER DIES.

William Wright, aged 75 years, a wealthy Bath county farmer, died Saturday morning in a Lexington hospital. He had been in bad health for many months and becoming critically ill a few days ago he was rushed to the hospital in hopes that an operation would be the means of saving his life, but to no avail, as he died shortly after leaving the operating table. The remains were taken to the home of Mrs. Belle Rice near Owingsville, where the funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock by the Rev. Clyde Darsie, of this city, assisted by Rev. Tyler O. Davis, of the Presbyterian Church of Owingsville. Interment took place in the Owingsville cemetery.

Mr. Wright was the son of Ambrose Wright, and was a member of one of Bath county's oldest and most influential families. He was never married and made his home on the old Wright homestead on the Wyoming road near Owingsville.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Belle Rice, and one brother, Ben T. Wright, both of Bath county.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Young and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Young, of this city, are also located at this place.

DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN OPENS

Governor Black Fires First Gun at "Hoptown." Cantrill Opens in Blue Grass at Winchester

Ten thousand persons were present at Hopkinsville Saturday to hear Governor Black open the State Democratic Campaign. The meeting was a most enthusiastic one and the Governor was frequently interrupted by applause. He made a splendid speech and did not mince words in taking the Republicans to task for tactics employed in their hopeless effort to defeat the Democratic state ticket. The Governor made a splendid impression and the opening was a glorious one.

Reclaring that Edwin P. Morrow, Republican nominee for governor, had convicted farmers who pooled their tobacco in the fight against the tobacco trust, and that S. Thurston Ballard, nominee for lieutenant governor, was robbing farmers and laboring men by selling them flour at a price higher than he asked in the South, Congressman J. Campbell Cantrill, champion of the farmer in Congress, opened the Democratic campaign at Winchester Monday.

Mr. Cantrill declared that the repeal of the state primary law sought by Republicans would practically disfranchise Kentucky women, who will soon have the ballot, and challenged a comparison of the pardon record of Governor Stanley with that of Augustus Willson, the last Republican governor.

The state is not strongly Democratic, as has been supposed, he said, in urging that the entire Democratic vote be gotten out at the coming election. He gave figures showing the close votes polled by Republicans at recent national elections, and said that his party asked support in the confidence of having kept all promises in the platform two years ago.

Mr. Cantrill spoke for an hour and a half to a crowd of enthusiastic Democrats who crowded into the Clark circuit room and adjoining corridors. He was interrupted by applause time and again when he spoke of the Democratic record.

TO OPEN MEAT MARKET

Gay Wilson, formerly of this city, has returned from Detroit and will open up a meat market in the Williams building here on the first of October. Mr. Wilson will operate under the "cash and carry" system, having no telephone, no delivery and selling for cash only. He will handle first-class meats and by cutting out expense of delivery, etc., will be able to make close prices on his goods.

He is now 79 years old and he ran down from Columbus, O., where he was an attendant at the Grand Army reunion. Mr. Montague was one of six who was given transportation on account of being an active member of the Drum Corps at Long Beach. From here he goes to North Middletown to visit relatives and thence to Atlanta, Ga., to visit a daughter, Mrs. Web Bratton, whose husband is First Lieutenant in the United States Army, stationed at Atlanta.

A packed house greeted these young performers and they were encored again and again by an enthusiastic and appreciative audience. MARRIAGE OF POPULAR COUPLE

Miss Georgia Pangburn and Richard M. French United in Marriage Friday Afternoon.

On last Friday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Pangburn, Miss Georgia Pangburn was united in the holy bonds of wedlock to Mr. Richard M. French. The ceremony was witnessed by thirty or forty friends of the couple and was performed by Rev. Clyde Darste, of the Christian Church. The wedding of this popular couple had been previously announced although no definite date had been set.

The bride has been clerk in the local postoffice for a number of years, and by her accommodating manner and ever pleasant smile has endeared herself to the hearts of this entire community. She is one of the most deserving girls ever reared in Mt. Sterling, possessed of a charming manner and sweet disposition which have won for her popularity attained by few in this city or elsewhere.

The groom, Richard M. French, formerly assistant postmaster of this city, but now postoffice inspector, located in California, with headquarters at San Francisco, is widely known in this section. He is a most excellent gentleman, having that faculty for making and holding friends which has made him quite popular. Since his appointment as city mail carrier at the local postoffice several years ago he has risen rapidly and has a most promising future before him.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple, accompanied by a number of friends, motored to Winchester, where they boarded a train for Chicago and will go from there to Los Angeles and will take a steamer from that point to San Francisco, where they will make their future home.

In the uniting of these two hearts we feel that two souls, each well deserving of the other, have been blended together, and we join their countless friends in the sincere wish that these sweethearts since school days' fond recollections, may stroll down life's pathway unto old age and when the flower of youth has faded, may they still be only sweethearts.

HUGH SPEPHENS HERE

Mr. Hugh Stephens, of Pittsburg, Kansas, is here visiting his father's family, Joe W. Stephens. Twenty-three years ago Mr. Stephens and wife left Mt. Sterling to make Kansas their home. Mrs. Stephens will be remembered as Miss Marcia Gay. They have one daughter, Miss Sara, twenty-one years old. Mr. Stephens has been rewarded for faithfulness and justness and today holds the responsible position of first assistant cashier of the First National Bank in Pittsburg, Kansas, a city with a population of 20,000. Crops in Kansas are as they are here, having suffered for the want of rain and are light. In the locality of Pittsburg coal mining is the principal industry and the unrest of labor does not make that section an exception.

We are glad to know that Mr. Stephens has prospered with the rapid development of Kansas.

"It Must Have Been Dead at Least 6 Months But Didn't Smell."

Must have been dead six months, didn't smell. RAT-SNAP is wonderful." Three sizes, 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold and guaranteed by Chenault & Oretr.

One bit of information that members of Representative Frear's committee will obtain in its peregrinations through Oregon and Washington may come handy. They will learn a good deal about tall timber in time for the next election.

Already the Government's income from taxes is sufficient to meet current expenses and leave a balance with which to retire loans. One of the many bright spots in the present administration is the fiscal department.

A GAY FLARE OF COLOR

"Look at the city landscape. What a somber and lifeless spectacle without a sign, a poster or a busy electrical display to hail the eye with a gay flare of color—a bright message of busy, bustling, human activity.

"Only those who have endured exile in regions unpenetrated before by civilized man can tell you the hunger of the cultivated human mind for the wayside sign, for man's contribution to the metropolitan landscape, for the friendly words of industry that greet him from streets lighted with messages of the eager, competitive strife of commerce. No man ever survived such an exile in a land beyond the frontier of the printed word who did not hail the first sign or printed advertisement of any sort that met his eye on his return to civilization as a good and friendly thing. In his sight the commercialized alphabet glowed with the charm of close and multiplied human contact.

"Then, let your imagination turn to the printed page and picture the dreary desert of abstractness presented by books, magazines, newspapers and publications of every sort with type-masses unbroken by a single advertisement. Can you grasp their depressing solidity, their forbidding remoteness from the real world of wholesome, human affairs, of making and carrying and selling the things that civilized man has learned, in the evolution of his refinement, first to want and then to need?"

A DIFFERENT WORLD INDEED

"Focus every faculty of your mind upon the task of seeing your familiar world as it would appear if swept clean of every token that advertising now employs to deliver its myriad messages, and you will feel that your eyes have been opened to an economic revelation!

"No thinking man can face that vision without a shudder," he continued. "Instinctively he will shake himself loose from its spell as from the clutch of a nightmare in which the whole world has become confused, fantastic, out of focus.

"A world without advertising!" "First, consider only its most superficial side without any attempt to trace the blighting results that would surely follow to all industries fed by advertising funds.

Both capital and labor owe it to the country and to themselves to reach a better understanding and a closer co-operation. Both are under obligation to President Wilson for providing the opportunity to meet face to face and talk as man to man.

It will be noted that although Republican Senators on the Foreign Relations Committee pretend to discount the effects of President Wilson's tour, they made haste to send the peace treaty to the Senate much sooner than they originally intended.

There can be no reason why any reader of this who suffers the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the pains and dangers of kidney ills will fail to heed the words of a neighbor who has found relief. Read what a Mt. Sterling citizen says:

Mrs. L. B. Wren, 117 Locust St., says: "Several years ago I had an attack of kidney trouble. I suffered with my back, felt dull and tired and had dizzy nervous headaches. My kidneys acted irregularly, too. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and used them as directed. They helped me by relieving the back aches and other symptoms of kidney trouble."

DELCO-LIGHT was designed and built by men who were raised in farm homes—who experienced the discomforts and inconveniences of farm life—and who set out deliberately years ago to develop an electric plant that would provide city advantages for rural communities.

They were the same men whose engineering talent had made DELCO Starting, Lighting and Ignition Equipment for automobiles the standard of the world—

They knew electricity—and they knew the needs and limitations of farm life—

They knew that an electric plant to give service in a farm home must be simple, so that it would not get out of order and require complicated repairs—

It must be easily operated and require little attention—

It must be very economical in operation—

It must be built to stand hard usage and it must last indefinitely—

It required five years to develop a plant that would measure up to these specifications.

There were five years of hard engineering effort back of DELCO-LIGHT before the first plant was put on the market three and a half years ago.

Today DELCO-LIGHT is furnishing the conveniences and comforts of electricity to more than Seventy-five Thousand farm homes.

It is providing an abundance of clean, bright, economical electric light for these homes. It is furnishing power to pump water, operate washing machine, churn, separator, vacuum cleaner, electric iron, milking machine, and other small machinery.

And everywhere it is demonstrating its wonderful efficiency—and actually paying for itself in time and labor saved.

MT. STERLING MUST HAVE A NEW HOTEL

Awake! Awake! You drowsy sleepers! Don't you know Mt. Sterling is losing thousands of dollars every year, we might say every month, by reason of the lack of hotel facilities? In 1913-14 Judge H. C. McKee undertook the project and incorporated a hotel company, and the project went so far as to select the location and enough stock was subscribed, and the bonds issued and contract let to build the building with a proviso that local option would not prevail, as $1,200 was one of the proceeds to come from a saloon to be in the building. Pending negotiations, local option was voted, then the war with Germany, and the downfall of the Central Life Insurance Company with which Judge McKee was connected and other troubles, and misfortunes that overtook the country put the hotel project to sleep. The same site, or another good one, can now be secured, and the original articles of incorporation and a complete set of plans and specifications, which we think could be used to advantage if an effort were made, which should be done, to build a first class, up-to-date hotel.

If we had the hotel accommodations, and an exploitation committee, Mt. Sterling could have the annual and district meetings of at least a large number of the conventions of the five religious denominations represented here. The congressional, legislative and judicial conventions meet somewhere each year and alternative years. The Odd Fellows, Masons, Red Men, Elks and other fraternal conventions, the schools and other educational bodies that meet annually and spend hundreds of dollars at their meetings could be induced to hold their gatherings in Mt. Sterling. The Midland Trail is now a certainty, running from East to West across the continent, with Mt. Sterling the first city of any importance in Kentucky after leaving Ashland, and when finished thousands of automobiles and auto trucks will come and go through the city, but as it is, what inducements have we to offer a single one to stop, except to give them a drink of Slate creek water? If we had an up-to-date hotel don't you think they, at least a part of them would stop over? If they did, don't you think they would not only spend their money at the hotel but all of us would stand a show to pick up a piece? If you think people who tour the country in automobiles don't spend money, try touring a few days or weeks and find out. If you think that species of globe trotters don't know ahead what hotels there are in each place they pass, then you have another thought coming, as they have route books, showing every turn in the road, every covered bridge, every sign post and every garage along the entire route, and if they know this and we provide a good place to rest their weary bones and that tired feeling, to give them the best of Kentucky's eats and good soft beds to sleep in—and since State-wide prohibition has put us all on a dead level so far as John Barley Corn is concerned, don't you believe they would abide with us overnight and perhaps days or weeks, as it is a good point to detour to the many watering places near us, and stand a better chance if they make a "still-hunt" to obtain pure mountain dew, than in any similar place along the route?

In the hotel, provision could be made for a garage, an assembly hall, to be used by the society folks, with suites of rooms for any tired housewife who might like to "close up shop" for a season and rest at the Luxurious and Pleasant Hostelry, and like all similar places if you want to entertain with a party, a dance or any kind of social entertainment, you have the place. What have you now? Even if the Prince of Wales or King Albert and wife from Belgium should offer to visit us, what would we do with them? No stranger enters our gates now except with the expectation of leaving before the sun sets. They all know what we have and what we don't have, and not one of the many weary Commercial Tramps who TRAMP and TRAMP is trying to spend the "week-end" in Mt. Sterling. Don't you think they would if we had the place for them? Let us get busy and put it over—it only takes one time to do it. Think about how much we lost before we got together and built the tobacco warehouses? What have they meant to the city and county? Do you know of anybody who has any stock in them for sale? And yet, there were people of high rank as citizens who insisted they would not pay, that tobacco would not stop here but go on to Lexington. No doubt that some of that calibre would say the same about the hotel, but don't you believe it.

When we lost saloons, how many of our people night and day were sailing for Lexington, but since we have all become the same size, in tobacco and liquor, how many of us go there now? We could not expect to catch each and every one, and there might be some knockers on Mt. Sterling, like a few now remain who go to Lexington with their tobacco, some disgruntled, sour, jealous eccentrics, who imagine nothing is good and pure unless it comes from or goes to "Hoss-town." We admit there remains yet, to the discredit of the persons and the city, a few who continue to leave town to do their trading.

Did you ever think how the building of a first class hotel would boost and advertise your city? How you would "bob up" and tell about it, and glory in having it and in telling of it to those unacquainted with the place? When they ask about it now what do you do? We will tell you. You do like we do, hang your head in shame, to have to tell that you live in the Eden of Kentucky with no place exactly suitable to send a stranger to who has been used to a daily ablution and some privacy, even in a hotel.

We did get along without the telephone, without automobiles, water, gas, light and ice, but to give them up now, what would you do or think? If we had a modern hotel how much more beautiful and thrifty would the Old Town appear? She would blossom like the Green-bay-tree.

Just to think of our rivals in nearby towns with half a dozen railroad lines in and out, and other modern utilities, and how we have kept pace, without having been left in the distance is a marvel, and yet the sound of the hammer and the see-saw of the saw, the click of the pick is being heard in all parts of the city.

We talked to a man who at one time went into a dead town and built a $100,000 hotel. When he began the structure there was not a building going up in the town, but before the hotel was finished, more than $800,000 worth of buildings were being built in that city.

Don't you know the erection of a $100,000 hotel in Mt. Sterling would enhance the value of every foot of ground in the county and city? We appeal to the country people who are part and parcel of the city, who are all mutually dependent upon each other, to take an interest in the matter and let us all, country and city, get our heads together and pull our way, and build a hotel that will reflect honor, beauty and credit to the county, city and all the people therein, and that will be a standing monument to all who aid in it, and a thing of beauty—a joy forever, to all who see or look at it, and a lasting credit and glory to the men and women who build it.

This is a long sermon on a hotel, but really, don't you think we have hit the spot? If we haven't let some one rise and tell us—"why not?"

55,000 ACRES OF PERRY LAND SELLS FOR $1,000

This state has been regarded for some time as one of the best prospects for investment, 55,000 acres of land in Perry county sold for $1,000. Reported by William Worthington, of Lexington, commissioner for the federal court to sell the land under the judgment of sale in the case of the Goodrich-Lockhart Company against Oscar A. Sears, Walter S. Harkins and Joseph D. Harkins. The land was appraised at $3,000, but it sold to S. M. Boggs for one-third of its appraised value.

Let the Republican majority remember—as the people will—that passing a bill through the House of Representatives or the Senate alone is only fulfilling half a duty.

WHO'S MONTGOMERY COUNTY'S FOOD LISTER?

The State Food Commission will appoint what is known as a food lister in each county. Some person, whose identity is unknown, will send to the government each week a list of prices, being charged by retail merchants. If these prices are considered too high a government agent will call on the merchant.

DISABLED ARMY MEN REMEMBERED

War Risk Insurance Act is made more liberal to disabled army men and the red tape provision is cut out.

Among the changes in compensation payments provided for total temporary disability are that a single man shall receive $80 monthly instead of $30; a man with a wife or a child, $90 instead of $45; one with a wife and one child, $95 instead of $55; and the man with a wife and two children or more, $100 instead of $65.

Disabilities, it is provided, shall also be rated as partial and temporary, total and permanent, and partial and permanent, for which monthly compensation shall be a percentage of the degree of reduction in earning capacity.

Automatic insurance provisions of the law are extended to cover all men, except those who actually refused to apply for insurance, who were finally accepted for service during the war.

The permitted class of beneficiaries is enlarged to include uncles, aunts, nephews, nieces, brothers-in-law and sisters-in-law, while the definition of parent is extended to persons who stood in loco parentis to service men.

A SPLENDID SINGING SHOW

One of the features Manager Coburn of Coburn's Minstrels tries to excel in every season is the singing of chorus, solo and quartette numbers with this popular organization. All lovers of good minstrelsy appreciate particularly the harmonious blending of male voices. Without it minstrelsy would lose its individuality and interest. This season some especially strong feature soloists have been engaged and one of the best quartettes in the minstrel world. Feature headline acts, a screaming comedy farce by Charley Gano with that prince of comedians in the stellar role, embracing the entire company, the beautiful first part scenic spectacle "Farewell America" and a fine corps of dancers, comedians and fun folks complete what is said to be the strongest and best attraction every produced by this capable amusement caterer. For twenty years Joe Coburn and his company have kept faith and demonstrated clean, enjoyable minstrelsy. Now in their twenty-first year with a show you know as a household word they will appear for one performance at The Tab Theatre Thursday, Oct. 2.

Millions Suffer From Acid-Stomach

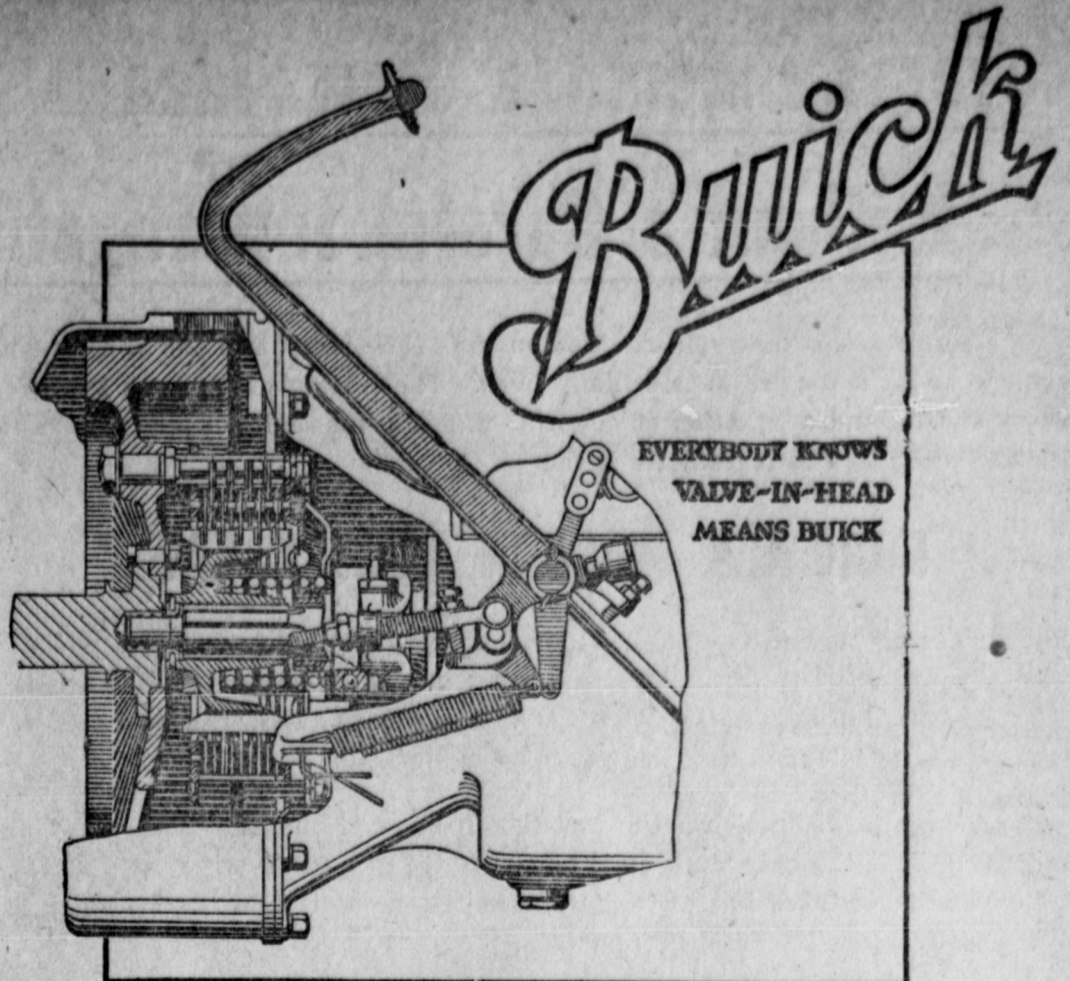

The Greatest Remedy On Earth Acid Iron Mineral

Millions of people suffer year after year from ailments affecting practically every part of the body, never dreaming that their ill health can be traced directly to acid-stomach. Here is the reason: poor digestion means poor nourishment of the different organs and tissues of the body. The blood is impoverished becomes weak, thin, sluggish. Ailments of many kinds spring from such conditions. Biliousness, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, general weakness, loss of power and energy, headache, insomnia, nervousness, mental depression, even more serious ailments such as catarrh and cancer of the stomach, intestinal ulcers, cirrhosis of the liver, heart trouble—all of these can often be traced directly to acid-stomach.

Keep a sharp lookout for the first symptom of acid-stomach—indigestion, heartburn, belching, food repeating, that awful painful bloated after eating, and sour gassy stomach. ACID IRON MINERAL, the wonderful modern remedy for acid-stomach, is guaranteed to bring quick relief from these stomach miseries. Thousands say they never dreamed that anything could bring such speedy relief—and make them feel so much better in every way. Try ACID IRON MINERAL and you, too, will be just as enthusiastic in its praise. Make your life worth living, no aches or pains, no blues or melancholy, no more of that tired, listless feeling. Be well and strong. Get back your physical and mental punch; your vim, vigor and vitality. You will always be weak and ailing as long as you have acid-stomach. So get rid of it now by taking ACID IRON MINERAL. Also call for A I M Pills and take one every night until stomach, kidneys and liver are relieved.

The Buick Dry Plate Clutch

The exclusive patented features of the Buick disc clutch minimize the effort and skill necessary in gear shifting, and at the same time provide a clutch that is absolutely smooth and positive in operation. Under this patented construction, the heavy rotating parts of the clutch are carried by the flywheel and only the very light parts are carried by the transmission, which accounts for the transmission gears not spinning after clutch is disengaged, thus preventing the clashing of gears in shifting from one speed to another.

The slightest pressure of the foot will disengage this smooth acting Buick clutch, which makes it especially popular with women drivers and those who drive much in congested traffic.

NORWALK MODERN BURIAL VAULT

This vault is not new in most places in this country. It has been tested in the cemeteries all over this country, it has been tested in the laboratories of its friends and in the places of business of its competitors. These results show the most perfect vault for the purpose intended that has yet been manufactured.

Its chief claim to distinction is the fact that it stays "Bone Dry" under any and all conditions. It is the only vault on the market today that even approximates dryness. Your undertaker knows that the average grave is filled with water before the funeral cortege has left the cemetery.

Various materials and various methods have been used to meet this situation. Metal vaults protect their contents against everything but water. Seal them with a blow torch and they sweat full of water through the metal pores. Brick, stone, concrete and other like materials are subject to the same fearful objection.

Norwalk Vaults are manufactured by us under license patents and the materials and method of construction is such that they not only preserve their contents intact for an indefinite period of time but they preserve a thoroughly dry interior under the most adverse conditions. They seal hermetically into one piece, time does not deteriorate them and the prices are well within reach of the modest family of ordinary means.

These vaults are sold exclusively through your local undertaker who will be glad to give you complete details as to their desirability.

PUTTING WALLACE ON THE MAP

It takes no prophet to tell that Wallace, in the near future, will be one of the prominent towns in Eastern North Carolina, says the New York Tobacco. Wallace is not stepping at talking, but is doing great things in the way of sure enough enterprise. Its live men have made these things happen. It has one of the most thickly populated back countries of any town, and the third large tobacco warehouse, which is being erected, will be ready for business at the opening of the market, August 20. T. J. Bray, who put Wallace on the map as a tobacco market, will be proprietor of his same old stand. Merritt & Pell, well-known to all tobaccoists, will operate the Duplin warehouse, while Walter Carter, formerly of Warsaw, will have charge of the new warehouse.—Southern Tobacco Journal.

Mr. Bray is well and favorably known in Mt. Sterling, being the popular and efficient auctioneer at the Whitehall.

Not only was this resolution passed, but this movement is made as a part of the Sunday School work and in many counties stamps are being purchased and sent to the Kentucky Sunday School Association to form part of the endowment fund. Tobacco High
IN NORTH CAROLINA---

Reports from Eastern North Carolina are to the effect that prices for tobacco at the opening sales held Tuesday, September 2nd., were higher than on opening sales last year. When North Carolina tobacco sells high, Burley tobacco also sells high.

In the past growers have lost thousands of dollars by not protecting themselves against fire and tornado. The rates for fire and tornado insurance on tobacco are the same as last year. I am prepared to protect you against these hazards in the best "Old Line" Companies. Phone 315 or see me when you are ready to insure.

DOWN WITH THE PESSIMIST, UP WITH THE OPTIMIST

Let no one be discouraged by the spirit of unrest throughout the land. However dark the clouds may sometimes seem, the mist clears away at last and the sun shines with renewed brightness.

Labor strikes are threatened almost daily, but many labor men are showing keen appreciation of the conditions under which we are living and are opposed to the radical leaders—an extremely hopeful sign. Insofar as labor men are willing to increase their efficiency and production they are fully entitled to high wages. Neither the laboring man nor the farmer nor the average salaried man has ever been adequately paid as a whole. The unrest of the hour is the inevitable struggle of the crysalis as it seeks to throw off its old shell and become a butterfly. Eventually, out of the struggle will come a larger, broader life, a closer friendship between all classes and a more harmonious cooperation between employers and employees, between the rich and the poor, the educated and the uneducated. This will be founded not on so-called charity or philanthropy, but on a fair and honest recognition each of the rights of others.

America is no going to the dogs despite all of the bolshevistic and socialistic agitation all the parlor Bolsheviks and all the wild theories of long-haired but short-brained men.

When tempted to be discouraged as to the condition prevailing in this country at present, we should remember the difficulties through which we have passed in former years. To do this we need only to go back to the free-silver craze of 1896, which swept a large part of the nation off of its feet and brought about a condition which looked like we were headed for chaos.

We are talking much today about the high cost of living, but, broadly speaking, the nation is living in more riotous luxury and in greater extravagance than ever before in its history. In 1896, on the other hand, the nation was living in desperate poverty. Then the farmers of the entire country were practically bankrupt, and all the business interests were stagnated. Hundreds of thousands of men walked the streets begging in vain for work. Soup kitchens to feed the starving were in evidence everywhere. In the west corn sold at 15 to 16 cents a bushel and was burned for fuel, because it did not pay the cost of hauling to the railroad and the freight to the market as compared with wood or fuel needed for warmth. Cotton sold at 4½ cents a pound and for the entire year averaged less than 5 cents a pound. Wheat sold for several years at from 50 to 60 cents a bushel.

Every wheat grower, every corn grower, every cotton raiser grew steadily poorer under these prices, and there was nothing in sight except absolute bankruptcy. Millions and tens of millions of dollars of farm loans could not be paid, nor could even the interest on them be met.

This desperate condition of the farmers did not, however, help the city population. It is true that farm products were abnormally cheap, lower than they had ever been in the history of our country, but wages and the earnings of business men were so extremely small that there was far less ability than on the part of the city people to buy the low-priced foodstuffs of that day than there is now to buy the high-priced foodstuffs of the present.

Mutterings of discontent based on the appalling poverty of the farmer and the mechanic and the day laborer and the business man were heard everywhere. Even revolution was threatened, because a very large part of the people, not understanding the reasons for these conditions, felt that they had been brought about by fiscal legislation for the express purpose of enriching the banking interests at the expense of the producing interests. But the banking interests were suffering like all other interests. We were then passing through an economic period of extreme depression. The low prices of farm products were largely due to the fact that for years the production of crops in proportion to population had been steadily gaining, reaching its climax about 1893 or 1894, although the effect continued for several years after the turn had been made, and we had once more begun to see the pendulum swing the other way and the production of foodstuff grew slightly less year by year in proportion to population. Moreover, we had the worse banking system in the world, which afforded no relief against such conditions.

Though Henry Ford may think that "history is bunk," intelligent men know that the history of the past events gives us some basis on which to judge the present and the future. We can see today that there is no such condition as existed in 1896; no such cause for unrest, and that in reality the unrest is not as great as it then was. Moreover, it was then due to actual starvation facts which faced people every hour of their lives, and which had continued to run for years following the panic of 1892-93.

At the present times we have high cost of foodstuffs, but the farmer is getting a splendid price for his products. Instead of being in desperate poverty, he is enjoying a greater prosperity than ever before. The wage-earner is getting larger wages than he ever dreamed of, far more nearly in keeping with the cost of living than were the wages of 1896, as compared with the cost of living at that time. We have now the Bolshevistic agitation, but we then had an agitation that was even more dangerous, and more men, even men of high standing in the business world, were carried away by the free-silver craze, five to one, than are influenced today by the radical labor unions and the spirit of unrest of the hour.

Even in this day of turmoil there is no place in America for the pessimist. Away with him! He is a cumberer of the ground. He is a reflection upon the intelligence of Americans. He has no right to a place in this country.

Let optimism—broad, farvisioned optimism, the optimism which looks with the eye of faith to the guiding hand of that Providence which planted the Stars and Stripes over human liberty in America for the enlightenment of the world—prevail throughout our land.

PURCHASE BOURBON LAND

Messrs. Matt C. Clay and S. B. Lane, of this city, bought 372 acres of the Ford estate in Bourbon county, which was offered at public auction last week. For the 372 acres purchased, the price averaged $308 per acre. The tract secured contains the old Ford home, and every acre bought is fine tobacco land.

This sale was extensively advertised in the Advocate and was largely attended. Col. George D. Speaks of the firm of Harris & Speaks, and one of the best known and most successful auctioneers in the South cried the sale, making the best sale of farm lands ever made in Central Kentucky.

War mothers from all over the United States are completing plans to be offered for the strengthening and perfecting of the National American War Mothers' organization when it meets in Washington, September 29 and 30 and October 1 and 2.

National headquarters for the National American War Mothers—the only organization of its kind that is made up solely of mothers who offered their sons for army, navy and marine service—are in Indianapolis and Mrs. Alice French is president.

Any assistance the mothers can give in helping to curb the wave of unrest that has swept over the country will be given, it is said, and this subject will be thoroughly discussed.

One of the features of the convention will be the meeting for mothers whose sons lost their lives while in the service. Various committees also are on the programs.

AMERICA MUST GO AHEAD

It is a good thing for those Americans who think their country is a hard taskmaster in requesting economy, saving and adherence to the many rules and regulations made necessary to any nation that has been at war, to note that the Government of the United States is not the only government which is advising its people to live well, work well and save well.

Our very close ally across the sea—England—is urging the unity of her people in thrift and saving, to keep the industry of that country from declining, which would mean disaster and a longer period of reconstruction.

In a memorable speech made by King George, not long since in London, he said:

"With the end of the war a great chapter in the history of our country is closed. A new era which is opening before us brings its own tasks, and the same qualities which have carried us to victory will be needed in full measure for the work of reconstruction. The spirit of union, self-sacrifice and patience which our people displayed during years of fighting, will still be required if we are to reap the full benefit of the peace which we have won. And those great qualities must be reinforced by the homelier virtues of industry and thrift.

As was inevitable in the prosecution of the war, we have been losing largely on our capital. Now that we are at peace again our country urgently demands from every citizen the utmost economy in order to make the best use of the resources which our nation possesses, and strenuous and unremitting industry in order to insure the greatest possible production of the necessary commodities. Without these we cannot hope to maintain the high position in the industrial and commercial world which we held before the war. I am confident that the ancient and sterling virtues of the British people will not fail us in our hour of need."

The confidence expressed that the English people would bend every effort in the interest of their country's weal, is splendid, and we of America should give the same assurance to the world that we will not allow our commercial interests to falter. To work together, united for the welfare of our country—to be economical—to save and invest wisely so that there will be no chance of losing, is the safest plan for each individual to follow. There is no better investment in the world today than with the U. S. Government. The securities of War Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates which she offers, bearing four per cent interest, compounded quarterly are as sound as the Rock of Gibraltar.

When Republican Senators begin their acrimonious debates among themselves it is pretty difficult for an amateur to differentiate "mild" reservationists from "wild" reservationists.

BIGGEST

EVER CONDUCTED IN KENTUCKY

Famous Russell Cave Pike, near Lexington

1541 Acres of Haggin Land Subdivided will be sold at Auction on THURSDAY, OCTOBER 2 at 10:30 A. M. Rain or Shine

This large farm has 5 miles of pike frontage, and owing to the enormous investment in improvements made by the late Mr. J. B. Haggin, it will be necessary to have several farms containing about 250 to 300 acres, but we will also have some small tracts and will in a few days publish a map showing how this property is subdivided. This map will show also, all the expensive plumbing and water lines that spread like network over the farm. Each tract we sell will have the running water thereon, and each purchaser will receive a deed to his interest in the water system. This magnificent never failing water system is separate and apart from any other part of the famous Haggin land; it has its own 25,000 gallon tank, its own large gasoline engine, and its own source of supply in a spring the bottom of which has never been found. We bought this system complete with the farm, and you get it without any reservations, all purchasers sharing in its ownership with only a nominal annual charge for maintenance and operation.

This farm has about 900 acres in old blue grass sod, also a lot of virgin soil; is fenced and water-gapped throughout with the well known Haggin type; and listen: Has 5 main dwellings, twenty small houses, 7 $5000 tobacco barns, 11 fine Haggin stock barns, silos, etc., all equipped with running water; also concrete basins in all fields with running water. We have 12 small houses on the Ferguson pike which adjoin and are on 5 acre lots; these also equipped with running water, and will be sold separately and not with any tract or as a whole. This magnificent estate lies in the best section of Grand Old Fayette County.

Although we have had numerous requests for prices on this land, we positively will not sell any of it at private sale, "then run it through the auction sale," as has been suggested by friends who haven't had the experience in the auction sale business that we have. When you are the last bidder on one of these tracts, you will certainly get a deed and it will be yours to hold and enjoy as long as you live (unless you price it) and to increase in value from time to time.

For further information and description, see later ads, but in the meantime if you wish to see the property take it up with C. N. Manning or S. A. Wallace, at the Security Trust Company, or O. O. Carpenter, or C. H. Johnson on the farm, or the undersigned

ADVERTISING RHYMES

On Easy street you're sure to meet the continuous advertiser; he started out to do without, but now he has grown wiser. So from week to week those who seek good goods and bargains snappy his ads reveal—likewise appeal: "Trade here and be happy. I've goods you need—my prices head—good goods in largest quantity, just look around—it can't be found—a stock of higher quality; my prices, too, I'll prove to you, are the lowest that can be made; make here your bill for I surely will appreciate your trade. To increase my biz my endeavor is to keep my prices down. Investigate 'em! Duplicate 'em! It's impossible in this town." Now for today I've had my say, except to close this rhyming (?)—if merchandising plain advertising will keep your business climbing. But for a test select the best—the Advocate's among the leaders; each week 'tis read—it's truth that's said—by many buying readers; it's rates are fair, it's on the square—it's also on the level; use it and grow else business will go completely to the devil—O. Shaugh.

Are the boys playing ball much this fall? I wish I could be there to root for them some. How are the dormitory girls this year? The old ones I mean. Is Bessie up there. Give my love to them all. How many girls are staying in the dormitory this year? I am liking over here just fine. Everyone is just as nice as they can be. I want you to write me a letter next time and tell me about everybody. Are you taking Latin this year? You have Professor Goodwin to give you American History this year or next one, for you have to have it before you can get to take History 3 in Normal. That is, if you expect to attend Normal and work for an Elementary certificate. I am working in the dining-room. I have two tables to wait on. There are several girls and the head waitress besides me. Tell Miss McClure I'm mighty thankful to her for being in M. C. H. S. and teaching me how to wait on the table. How is your Uncle Floyd? Where is he staying? Tell me all about him. I am certainly very sorry to hear about your Aunt Leatha. I am taking agriculture. We have to take a hike out to some cornfield and select some seed corn tomorrow. My teacher is real nice. He is Professor Cox. I like all my teachers fine. I have five. It keeps me stepping rather fast to keep up with all of them. I go at 7:30 in the morning and have an hour off at noon. Then I start again and stay out until 3:30. Then I'm off for the day.

There are five large buildings over here. Sullivan Hall, girls' dormitory; Memorial Hall, boys' dormitory; Model High School and the University Building and Reark Building. Besides the several cottages, the heat and power plant, the model graded school and the gymnasium. We have games over in the gymnasium every Saturday night. You can pay 25c and they will teach you to dance, but I don't think that I shall learn.

My room-mate's name is Effie Allen. She is from Casey county, Liberty, Ky. I like her very well. We get along all right, but her tastes and mine differ considerably. We nearly had a storm over here today. The top of one tree blew out. Do you ever hear from Fannie, Lyda or Edward? I haven't heard from any of them for so long. I think we will have to take a fire drill one night pretty soon, for Miss Roberts called us down into the play room and told us how to act. I expect I'll jump out of the window, I don't know. Richmond is an awfully nice place. They have the drug stores and cafes combined and you never know when you're in a cafe, drug store or grocery, and you never know when you get there or when you get away from there. Be sure and write soon with a long, long letter.

BURLEY YIELD

The Burley tobacco crop for 1919 is estimated at 56,000,000 pounds. It is said the average yield will fall at least 25 per cent below last year but the increased acreage will make up this loss. It is estimated that about 40 per cent of the crop has been cut and that 60 per cent will be housed within the next two weeks. The warehouses here will be ready for the sales to begin about the 1st of December.

THE BANKER KNOWS

Unquestionably the men who guide the destinies of our banking institutions should be conceded to be among the best judges of securities that should be listed among the bank assets.

One of the strong and well managed banks in Missouri is the National Bank of Unionville, within a few miles of the Iowa border. Its statement published in August, shows its standing. The bank has a capital of $50,000, with loans and over drafts reaching $210,106.10.

Among the assets are listed Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps to the value of $32,543.23.

Thus the heads of this successful bank show by their example that they consider the U. S. Government securities a splendid investment.

They know that the uninitiated should know from their lead that the War Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates, the only form of U. S. Securities now obtainable direct from the Government, how that the last Liberty Bond Campaign is over, are the best investments the individual can find.

This sale will take place at the door of the Montgomery County Court House in Mt. Sterling, Ky., on Oct. 8th and 9th, 1919, at 1 o'clock, p. m., and will continue thereafter without further notice.

Deeds with Fee Simple Title will be given the highest and best bidder, AND NOT ANY OF THE PROPERTY WILL BE SUBJECT TO REDEMPTION THEREAFTER.

Any parties desiring final opportunity to redeem their property can do so by writing me at my office in Greenville, Ky., on any day previous to the date of this sale, viz., or by mailing to me, at Greenville, Ky., by registered mail, check or money order for amount hereinafter set out, giving correct post-office address for receipt to be returned, and the lien will be properly released of record.

THE MAN BEHIND THE FUN

That master producer comedian and funmaker Charles E. Gano for many years associated with J. A. Coburn's Minstrels is coming again with the big show on Thursday, Oct. 2, at the Tabb Theater with an all new production of the latest and best in minstrelsy. The new scenic opening Farewell America representing the Allied Naval Clubs good bye to our boys coming home is one of the most interesting and beautiful stage pictures ever presented by this company and embraces a number of novelty features in up to the minute amusement. Mr. Gano is one of the most unassuming and unaffected of all the minstrel stars but his reputation and ability is second to none and the announcement of his appearance with this well known company is a guarantee of an excellent performance under his direction. Manager Coburn has surrounded him with an entire new personnel and is said to surpass all former efforts in every detail. With Coburn and Gano as the men behind the fun all lovers of good old time minstrelsy, fine music, splendid singing and clean comedy require no further guarantee of a good show and their moneys worth. It is the men and the show you know.

DEMOCRATIC ROAD LAWS

It was Democratic legislation that brought to fulfillment the national demand for good roads. The success of that legislation in realizing the wishes of the country is exemplified by statistics covering the period from 1913, the beginning of President Wilson's first term, to September 1, 1919. In the six years there were constructed more than 15,000 miles of almost perfect highways.

But for the assistance given by the Federal Government, the several States would have been unable or unwilling to bear the whole cost of these improvements. But for Democratic laws no Federal aid would have been forthcoming. The Government is now matching with funds from the Federal Treasury every dollar that any of the States devotes to the building of its roads. In addition to the millions that have been voted for this purpose by Democratic Congresses, it is proposed to appropriate $400,000,000 to continue the work after 1921. Senator Shepard, a Democrat, is the author of this proposal.

The whole trend and tenor of Republican legislation in the past has been in favor of special private interests which wanted immunities and subsidies and privileges at the expense of the masses. There is no better illustration of the spirit and purpose of Democratic law-making than that manifested in this roads legislation, which brought benefits to every section and class of the country.

"They shall not pass" may be the slogan for the Republican Congress in its opposition to all the bills they promised and all the measures the President recommended.
